Allred Campaign Previews Strong Campaign Finance Report

Katy TX – Dr. Anna Allred, the conservative Republican choice in the Special Election for Texas State Representative, District 28, previewed a strong campaign finance report. The “30 Days Before an Election” report is the first indication of what the candidates are raising and spending. The District 28 Special Election is being held to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Dr. John Zerwas.

“I’m a physician, not a politician – an outsider to politics. My goal is to bring a fresh perspective and fresh ideas about how to better run our state government. Raising money is something that is new to me,” Dr. Allred said.

“I’m proud to say we raised $158,570 from 140 contributors. Because of this, our campaign is now built on a solid foundation. We’ll report $86,279 cash on hand.

“I entered this campaign clear-eyed about the challenges ahead. We could face as many as five elections in just 14 months – Special Election in November with a Special Runoff if necessary, Primary in March with a Primary Runoff if necessary, and General in November 2020,” Dr. Allred concluded. “Three of my opponents have all run and lost, one of whom has lost half a dozen times. I’m in this campaign to win. I think our broad base of support is an indication of our strength and our success at the ballot box.”
